

Abstract

A method of treating keratinous tissue is disclosed. The treatment utilizes at least one topical composition for application to keratinous tissue, a sachet containing the topical composition and a receptacle with heating system for releasably receiving at least one sachet.